History

The National Caravan Council (NCC) feels that it is important to acknowledge and reward long time service to the caravan industry.

In 1964, to mark the Silver Jubilee of the NCC, an Award was instituted for eligible persons who have worked within the caravan industry for 25 years, who duly make an application and who satisfy the under noted qualification. The first Awards were presented at the Convention in 1964.

Entitlement

The conditions to be met in order to be considered for the Award are as follows:-

- a) Those who have been engaged in the industry for 25 years and who are now directors, proprietors or senior executives of member firms of the National Caravan Council; or
- b) Those who have been engaged in the caravan industry for 25 years, employed by a company in membership of the National Caravan Council (at the time of application) and nominated by the director, proprietor or senior executive of the nominating company;
or
- c) Those of similar status who are at present, closely associated with the National Caravan Council although not entitled to be members, and who have been engaged in or with the industry for the past 25 years;
or
- d) Other categories that may be added from time to time. Suitable persons may be given the Award, even though they do not satisfy (a) or (b) above, at the discretion of the NCC Director General.

The recipient should be nominated by a representative from an external company involved in the industry. The application form will require a second signature from the recipient's senior executive, director or the proprietor of the employee company.

Note: Applications for awards can not be accepted if the nominated person works for/or owns a company which is eligible to be an NCC member but is not in membership at the time of applying.

All applications will be forwarded to the NCC Director General for approval.

A 'Senior Executive' means:-

Manufacturers:	Works, Sales or General Manager
Parks:	A person holding a managerial position and closely associated with the NCC and its work
Dealers:	Sales or General Manager
Supplies & Services:	A person holding a managerial position and closely associated with the NCC and its work

Award

The Award takes the form of a small enamel lapel badge, which can be worn at all times and a framed NCC Certificate.

Presentation

An annual awards presentation will take place at the informal dinner during the NCC Annual Members' Forum. The date and venue will be confirmed.
